Section I ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Basic requirements for admission to a preparatory study facility or for taking up specialized studies on an undergraduate program at TU Berlin are:

- submission of the application within the deadline;
- a higher education entrance qualification matching the program applied for;
- language skills at the level required by TU Berlin;
- application in the proper form (application form, official authentication and certified translation).

Depending on which requirements you fulfill, you will be assigned to a particular applicant group. Please find an overview at the end of Section I.

Application deadlines (application periods)

Higher education entrance qualification

If you wish to apply for admission to TU Berlin, you must provide proof of a higher education entrance qualification (Hochschulzugangsberechtigung – HZB). This is normally a secondary school leaving certificate, if applicable, in combination with a university entrance examination. In some cases, you are required to provide, in addition, a transcript of records from your previous university or a university degree, if available.

anabin uni-assist e.V. will evaluate your higher education entrance qualification as to whether it meets the standards of the Central Office for Foreign Education (Zentralstelle für ausländisches Bildungswesen – ZAB), both with regard to the desired program and the relevant study semester applied for.

Please check the anabin website for further information about the ZAB's standards:
🌐 <http://anabin.kmk.org/>

The anabin database provides applicants with information on the recognition of country-specific higher education entrance qualifications, university degrees and other academic credits.

Please note that binding decisions regarding the recognition of foreign educational certificates can only be made after the submission of an application to uni-assist e.V. TU Berlin does not conduct any prior checks.

If a conclusive assessment of your educational qualification is impossible, please contact the "Certificate Recognition Office" at the Berlin Senate Department for Education, Youth and Science, which is responsible for the evaluation of foreign educational certificates, including their restriction to specific subjects, and for clarification in cases of doubt: 🌐 <https://www.berlin.de/sen/bjf/anerkennung/>

Types of higher education entrance qualification according to anabin

direct	anabin valuation: “direkter Zugang” (direct admission) You can apply directly for an undergraduate program. indirect	anabin valuation: “Feststellungsprüfung/Studienkolleg” (assessment test / Preparatory School) Before applying for any undergraduate program, you must attend Preparatory School and pass the assessment test. By passing the test, you will obtain a direct, subject-specific higher education entrance qualification.
general	anabin valuation: “für alle Fächer” (for all subjects) If you have a general higher education entrance qualification, you are eligible to apply for preparatory courses or undergraduate programs in any subject of your choice.
subject-specific	anabin valuation: “fachorientiert” (subject-specific) If you have a subject-specific higher education entrance qualification, you are eligible to apply only for specific preparatory courses or specific undergraduate programs. Please check here which preparatory course matches our undergraduate programs: http://www.tu-berlin.de/ and Quick Access: 171747
No higher education entrance qualification	anabin valuation: “Keine Zulassung zu allen Hochschulen” (No admission to all institutions of higher education) In individual cases, it may not be possible to assess your educational certificates as qualifying for indirect admission to Preparatory School or for direct admission to specialized studies. Here you can find out more about the possibilities of acquiring a higher education entrance qualification: https://www.berlin.de/sen/bildung/lebenslanges-lernen/zweiter-bildungsweg/

Documentation to be submitted for the assessment of the higher education entrance qualification

Form and extent of the documentation to be submitted	For the assessment of your higher education entrance qualification and for the calculation of an average grade you must submit all required foreign educational certificates in full, in due form and on time. Please pay attention to the notes on “Official Certification and Translation” on the following page. All educational certificates that have not been issued in either German or English must always be submitted in the original language of the country of origin and, in addition, in German or English translation. Information on the educational certificates to be submitted can be found, among other places, in the evaluation proposals on the anabin website. Incomplete and/or provisionally issued educational certificates cannot be considered and will lead to the rejection of your application. Please note that, as a rule, the most recently acquired educational certificate determines the “date of acquisition of the higher education entrance qualification”.
Documentation to be submitted in principle	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• final secondary school transcript and, where available, certificate including an overview of subjects and grades• proof of completed studies, including an overview of subjects and grades as well as an average grade calculated by the institution of higher education. ⇒ In this regard, please pay attention to the information for Applicant Group Z (second degree) in Section III of the German BEWERBERINFO Bachelor International.
Additional documentation that may be required for submission	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• semi-annual and annual reports from the final two to four years of school including overview of subjects and grades;• proof of participation in a university entrance examination or attendance of a pre-university course;• proof of successfully completed academic years at institutions of higher education in the form of overviews of subjects and grades;• certificate attesting to the passing of an assessment examination at a preparatory school in Germany.

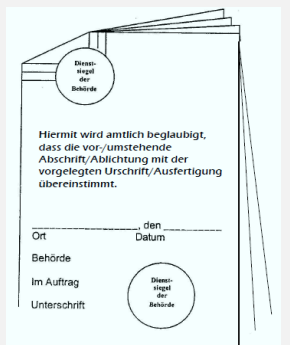

Language skills

Language proficiency

All undergraduate programs are taught in German. Therefore, you must provide proof of your German language skills.

A list of required language skills and proficiency levels can be found here:
<http://www.tu-berlin.de/> and Quick Access: 171766

Official authentication and certified translation

The entire documentation required for the application (in particular, foreign educational certificates and proof of language skills) is to be submitted in the form of officially certified copies, unless original documents or simple photocopies are explicitly requested.

TU Berlin has set the following internal standards with regard to your application papers and certificates: please submit only officially authenticated copies of your higher education entrance certificate and language certificate.

A certified German or English translation (prepared by a sworn translator) is required for every document that has not been originally issued in either German or English. Please submit either the original translation or an officially authenticated copy of the original translation.

Further information can be found here:
<http://www.tu-berlin.de/> and Quick Access: 181230

Additional information

German + foreign citizenship

Dual citizens

According to the resolution of the Standing Conference of the Ministers of Education and Cultural Affairs of the Länder in the Federal Republic of Germany (KMK) of 28 May 1968, those who possess another citizenship in addition to their German citizenship and wish to pursue a course of study shall be treated as German citizens during the application process and with regard to their potential admission to studies.

This means: they MUST apply as German citizens.

Section II PREPARATORY COURSES

A Preparatory course / assessment test

Preparatory course / assessment test	You can apply for admission to Preparatory School in preparation for the assessment test (Feststellungsprüfung) if the assessment of your foreign educational certificates has resulted in an indirect higher education entrance qualification for the focus course that is assigned to the desired course of study, and if you are obliged to take an assessment test at a preparatory school in Germany before taking up your specialized studies + you can provide proof of German language skills at proficiency level B2 or higher. Training at Preparatory School takes two to four semesters and ends with the assessment test. Application for admission to specialized studies is only possible after passing the assessment test.

Please note: the passing of an assessment test at a preparatory school in Germany does not imply that a general German higher education entrance qualification has been acquired, but rather that the candidate has earned the direct right to study a specific subject at a higher education institution in Germany.

If your higher education entrance qualification has not been assessed as being equal to the German higher education entrance qualification (Abitur), you may be required to attend Preparatory School. In this case, you have an indirect higher education entrance qualification and need to pass the assessment test (Feststellungsprüfung) before applying for any undergraduate program.

The assessment test may be taken internally (after attending Preparatory School) or externally (external/supplementary examination – externe Feststellungsprüfung / Ergänzungsprüfung). Please note that your indirect higher education entrance qualification must be subject-specific for an undergraduate program either in the subject range of technology, mathematics and natural sciences (T) or social and economic science (W) or medicine, biology and pharmacy (M).

Applicants for Preparatory School must provide proof of their German language skills.

Please note: passing the assessment test does not imply that you have acquired a general higher education entrance qualification (German Abitur). You still need to apply via uni-assist e.V.

Selecting a focus course

The choice of the focus course depends on your foreign educational qualifications, that is, your previous school education or higher education determines the qualification for a specific subject and thus the focus course. You can find out here whether your subject-specific qualification matches the desired course of study / focus course at TU Berlin's Preparatory School:

🌐 <http://www.tu-berlin.de/> and Quick Access: 171747

Focus courses at TU Berlin

TU Berlin offers three types of subject-specific focus courses:

T Course ⇒ for undergraduate programs in technology, mathematics or natural sciences

W Course ⇒ for undergraduate programs in social and economic science

M Course ⇒ for undergraduate programs in medicine, biology and pharmacy (fee-based course; for further information: 🌐 <http://www.tu-berlin.de/> and Quick Access: 175951)

Admission test

All applicants must apply via uni-assist e.V.

After application and before admission to the preparatory courses at TU Berlin, you must pass the admission test (Aufnahmetest) held at Preparatory School.

The supplementary admission test takes the form of a counseling session.

Preparatory course

Preparatory course

You can apply for admission to the language course as part of the preparatory course at TU Berlin's Preparatory School if the assessment of your foreign educational certificates has resulted in a direct university entrance qualification for technical, mathematical and natural-scientific (T) or economic and social-scientific (W) courses of study in Germany you can provide proof of German language skills at proficiency level B2 or higher.

The preparatory course takes one semester and ends with the language assessment test in German.

You may need to attend the preparatory course if your higher education entrance qualification has been assessed as being equal to the German higher education entrance qualification (Abitur) and you can provide proof of German language skills at proficiency level B2 or higher.

After one semester, you can take an examination in German at proficiency level DSH-2.

Please note: your direct higher education entrance qualification must be subject-specific for an undergraduate program in the subject range of technology, mathematics and natural science or social and economic science.

Desired course of study with Master's degree as the objective of study

Even if you intend to enroll in a Master's degree program after the completion of the preparatory course, as part of the online application for the preparatory course you will still need to choose a technical, mathematical, natural-scientific, economic or social-scientific undergraduate degree program (Bachelor or state examination) from the range of courses offered at TU Berlin.

How to apply

Registration at hochschulstart.de?

In some cases, a prior registration with hochschulstart.de is required for the application.

Please note:

NO application via hochschulstart.de. ONLY registration prior to application via uni-assist e.V.:
<http://www.hochschulstart.de/>

This only applies to applicants

- who are citizens of Germany, the European Union, Iceland, Norway or Liechtenstein and wish to apply for the first semester of an undergraduate program with restricted admission
- who have already earned a degree and wish to apply for the first semester of an undergraduate program with restricted admission

Step 1

Online application and number of possible undergraduate programs to be selected

Please register with uni-assist's applicant portal and fill in the online application:

<https://www.uni-assist.de/bewerben/online-bewerben/>

Please choose an undergraduate program from TU Berlin's range of degree programs for which you wish to apply.

Please inform yourself whether your desired undergraduate program (or the desired study semester) is offered in the winter semester only or in the summer semester too.

The number of undergraduate programs for which you can apply depends on the "applicant group" to which you have been assigned (A, B, E, C, Z, D → for more information, please refer to the current German BEWERBERINFO Bachelor International). For each desired undergraduate program, you need to fill in a separate online application form. The applications for your desired undergraduate programs will be considered in the order stated in the online application last submitted (first choice, second choice, third choice, ...), provided that you meet our admission requirements. If you apply for more undergraduate programs than permitted, those undergraduate programs applied for that exceed the permitted number will not be considered.

Please fill in the online application for your chosen undergraduate program and submit it online to uni-assist e.V.

Please note that attached documents or CVs cannot replace the information in the online application. Omitted or incomplete information in the online application (in particular, with regard to your school education, higher education and language skills) may lead to a rejection of your application.

Step 2

Required documentation and handling fees

Basic documentation to submit with your application:

- proof of higher education entrance qualification,
- proof of language skills (certificate),
- copy of your passport.

For more information about the documentation required, please read our CHECKLIST Bachelor International at the end of this document.

Please make sure that your documentation meets the requirements for "Official authentication and certified translation": <http://www.tu-berlin.de> and Quick Access: 181230

If you have been assigned to applicant group Z or D, you are required to submit additional application documentation. Please find further information in the German BEWERBERINFO Bachelor International.

uni-assist e.V. charges handling fees for the preliminary review of application documents and will start this process only after receiving the payment. For further information, please refer to:

<https://www.uni-assist.de/bewerben/kosten-zahlen/>

Step 3

Submit

By the end of the application period, you must submit your online application electronically via uni-assist's applicant portal and hand in your other application documents to uni-assist e. V. in paper form.

Please make sure you pay the handling fees and send the required documents in the requested form to uni-assist e.V. before the deadline expires.
